

“Wow” factor

Voting by

L-R: Matrix Artistic Director Nick Stenson. Michael Haase, Top Artist with Wella Professionals and Artistic Director of Salon Platinum Black in Los Angeles. Joseph Bogart, OYA Hair Color Regional Artistic Manager. Wella Professionals Top Stylist and owner of Muze Salon, Alexandra Matiz.

Emma Stone

NICK STENSON: This great example of a modern ombré on a copper base would brighten up any redhead with a dimensional end result. The long bob still reigns as one of the season's hottest cuts and a quick spritz of Matrix Design Pulse Clean Remix Instant Dry Shampoo can keep this easy look going strong.

cut & color: 8
outfit: 7
style: 8

vote 7.6

MICHAEL HAASE: There is a natural beauty to Emma, the young Hollywood star has a soft sun kissed glow to her look that is very now with where fashion in hair is going. Moving to a more daring color, copper, distant from blonde, the look is natural, real, and seems it could be her own. Achieving this look with Wella Illumina color would be the way to go.

cut & color: 7
outfit: 6
style: 7

vote 6.6

JOSEPH BOGART: The multi-tonal golden copper blond is radiant! This look beautifully accentuates her eye color and compliments her skin tone. The use of multiple tones adds depth and fullness to her finer textured hair. Her look is elegant and not just the girl next door.

cut & color: 7
outfit: 6.5
style: 7

vote 6.8

ALEXANDRA MATIZ: She looks effortless, natural yet sophisticated. Her golden and strawberry tones are right on point for the Spring Summer trends. Love the natural makeup that gives a very fresh look.

cut & color: 7
outfit: 6.5
style: 7

vote 6.8

Getty Images

final score: 6.9

Although she's a natural blond, we've come to love Emma's wholesome gingery looks

Margot Robbie

NICK STENSON: This deep, rich chocolate brown shows off a timeless elegance with its monochromatic color and a stunning finish of romantic waves that we're seeing on all the runways. Achieve this look with the help of Matrix Curl Contouring Lotion to further define the massive shine that truly sets this look apart.

cut & color: 8

outfit: 8

style: 9

vote 8.3

MICHAEL HAASE: Gorgeous! Real Hollywood, from the past, present, and future. Margot's refined and obviously well planned out look is something to be noticed. The hair is not too long, showing a true sense of style bespoke hair fashion, not just following the crowd. The rich espresso shade of hair with a wavy finish says, "Actress, I represent the best". A dark hair version of Charlize Theron, shows her colleagues how it's done.

cut & color: 8

outfit: 9

style: 10

vote 9

JOSEPH BOGART: The deep violet and mahogany red brown really shows how opposing tones work in harmony with the right haircut. Those mysterious gray eyes pop out beautifully with just the right amount of makeup. Oh, and her style. She's got it going on!

cut & color: 8

outfit: 8

style: 9

vote 8.3

ALEXANDRA MATIZ: I'm absolutely in love with the deep side part and the retro waves. Very chic. The shine in her hair reflects the chocolate hues beautifully. The makeup focused on the lips, although I wish they were bolder to add little more drama to the look. The jewelry and dress are right on trend.

cut & color: 8

outfit: 7

style: 7.5

vote 7.5

final score: 8.3

This Aussie actress seemed to be incognito as a brunette at the Oscars

Kim Kardashian

NICK STENSON: Though Kim looks stunning in warm blonde tones, she stays true to her heritage with a hue like this deep stallion black color. Her eyes really pop! To coax out Kim's natural curl that we're beginning to see here, I'd use Matrix Total Results Super Curl Defrizzer Gel to get soft waves without the crunch.

cut & color: 9

outfit: 8

style: 9

vote 8.6

MICHAEL HAASE: One of the best things Kim has going for her is that olive skin; it always goes great with red. Her true Sable hair color is her best bet, Kim please stay dark. There is a beauty to Kim that is quite elegant; a classic long cut without all the layers would be a welcome change to take this beauty to the next level. Kim's style is very, "rich" and tries to impress, this young Celeb is a kind of young Elizabeth Taylor.

cut & color: 6

outfit: 5

style: 7

vote 6

JOSEPH BOGART: Kim Kardashian proves that deep brunette shades can be just as prismatic as any other. This is a very confident and sophisticated look, and is so complimentary for just about any occasion. She's ready for the spotlight at any given moment.

cut & color: 7.5

outfit: 7

style: 8

vote 7.5

ALEXANDRA MATIZ: The big, beautiful sexy waves are subtle. The dark chocolate hues of her hair make beautiful contrast with her red dress. I love the makeup, because it's simple yet bold. However, the shoulder straps of the dress looks like it's too small for her.

cut & color: 8

outfit: 7

style: 7.5

vote 7.5

final score: 7.4

Whether blond or brunette, Kim has no qualms about changes-ups. Glam is as glam does

Hayden is one star who we think always looks best just the way she is ...au naturel

Hayden Panettiere

NICK STENSON: I love this style because it's perfect to show off her young fresh face! Pulling her hair back up off her face, perhaps with Matrix Biologie Exquisite Oil for added shine, opens her eyes and gives her a sophisticated glow. This is a great transitional look when changing styles or growing out fringe.

cut & color: 8

outfit: 8

style: 8

vote 8

MICHAEL HAASE: It seems Hayden's look is mostly pulled back in recent images. As a blonde, she is stunning, keep it up, I would suggest more dimension in the color. Between the long and the mid-length a decision has to be made to find a cut and style to complement the California girl look. If I could, with that face, I would suggest it's time to go short. With that little bit of Audrey Hepburn, she would be in the dream girl category.

cut & color: 5

outfit: 7

style: 8

vote 6.6

JOSEPH BOGART: Hayden Panettiere is gorgeous in this off the face look. The color has depth and is versatile. The darker shade framing her face really makes her shine. She is a natural beauty who could probably roll out of bed looking fabulous every time.

cut & color: 7

outfit: 7.5

style: 6

vote 6.8

ALEXANDRA MATIZ: This hairstyle with the ombre color is not particularly flattering for Hayden. It's not a nice combo. Although I love the blonder shades of it towards the tips. The fresh, natural makeup is a look that really works for her fair skin.

cut & color: 6.5

outfit: 6

style: 7

vote 6.5

Photos: Getty Images